Manner of determining amount of administrative penalty

43(1) The Railway Administrator or railway safety officer is to determine the amount of the administrative penalty imposed on a person after considering the following factors and the considerations described in subsection (2):

(a) the seriousness of the contravention in terms of the resulting danger or potential danger or degree of risk to the public, workers and property;

(b) the nature of the railway operation and the danger or potential danger of an accident occurring as a result of the contravention;

(c) the history of contraventions by the person on whom the administrative penalty is imposed;

(d) whether the administrative penalty is intended as a warning, a deterrent or punishment.

(2) The Railway Administrator is to be guided by the following considerations:

(a) the amount of the administrative penalty imposed should reflect the seriousness of the contravention;

(b) the higher the danger or possibility of an accident or degree of risk to people or property as a result of the contravention, the higher the penalty should be;

(c) the more times a person has previously been issued an administrative penalty the higher the penalty should be;

(d) the more the degree of wilfulness or neglect in the contravention, the higher the penalty should be;

(e) the amount of the penalty may be reduced if:

   (i) the Railway Administrator was notified of the contravention by the person responsible for the contravention;

   (ii) the person responsible for the contravention made full and frank disclosure;
(iii) steps have been taken to prevent recurrence of the contravention;

(iv) a reason for the contravention is provided which justifies a reduced penalty.

Limitation period

44 An administrative penalty must be imposed, if at all, within 6 months of the date the Railway Administrator or railway safety officer, as the case may be, first becomes aware of the contravention.
